CARNIVAL FEATURE. At the Lexington Fair Next Week.

The carnival feature at the Blue Grass Fair, which begins in Lexington Monday will eclipse that of any former Kentucky fair. The "Plaza" will be a center of attraction for many for whole days. Already fourteen high class shows have reserved space for the week.

Free shows, of which there will be ten daily, alone will afford excellent entertainment.

The show which will probably attract the widest attention and interest is Rollins' Wild Animal Arena. Ten lions, besides tigers, leopards, hyena, pumas, bears, wolves, monkeys and reptiles compose the menagerie. The troupes of animal trainers who accompany Mr. Rollins have won wide fame for daring, and that they continue in the business is proof of both skill and courage.

Cronjo, head lion of the den, was bought for the princely sum of ten thousand dollars. He is said to be the largest specimen in captivity. All of Rollins' animals earn their living. Though not tamed, all have been educated. While the safety of the audience is made absolute, the trainers are always exposed to possible danger, and all members of Rollins' Company wear scars. Thrills are promised all who see the animal congress at the fair.

Kennedy's X. I. T. Ranch, Indian Congress and Wild West, little inferior in size to Buffalo Bill's aggregation, will be at the fair for the entire week. Other high class shows make the carnival features exceptional.

Canoe

Mrs. Esther Stacy was born in Breathitt county, Ky., July 25, 1875, and died August 1, 1908. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Little. She was married to Shade Stacy in 1895. She was converted fifty years ago and belonged to the Presbyterian church at Canoe and was a faithful member until our Heavenly Father called her from labor to rest. She was carried to the Presbyterian church and her funeral was conducted by Rev. W. J. Arrowood, then the remains were taken to the family grave yard for burial. She leaves a husband, four children and many relatives. She said, "Oh, Jesus, blessed Jesus, take me home, for I am willing and ready to go at any time." She said there was nothing between her and her Heavenly Father but the sting of death. May the loved ones she has left pass over the river as peacefully as she did.

Dear Mrs. Stacy, thou hast left us, And thy loss we deeply feel, But 'tis God who hath bereft us. He can all our sorrows heal.

Husband and children do not weep For the dear one any more, For she only went to sleep Walking on the golden shore.

Candidate for Jailer.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for jailer of Breathitt county, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Some three years ago I was an announced candidate for the same office, but as my brother, T. H. Hudson, was a candidate at the same time for county clerk, I withdrew in his behalf.

My father, Henry Hudson, was born in Breathitt county, of Democratic parents, and served that great party faithfully and fearlessly until his death. He never knew what it was to bolt the sentiments of the Democratic party and I am proud that I can testify to the same fact. I have five brothers and six sons, who have always been loyal Democrats, neither of whom have been elected to office in this county.

I have been an ordained minister for 18 years and have labored continually for the betterment of our country and faithfully promise if elected to the office to which I aspire, will serve the people fearlessly, faithfully and impartially. I solicit the support of every honest citizen of Breathitt county.

J. H. HUDSON.

Rousseau.

Dan McIntosh, Stephen Carpenter and Pleas Davis preached at Lambrie last Sunday and had an old time service. The funeral of Liza Miller, wife of B. H. Miller will be preached by Revs. Calaway Cooper, Dan McIntosh and others at the grave yard at the Risner point the third Saturday and Sunday in August. Crops are fine at Rousseau, peaches are ripe and the election is over and water melons are getting ripe, and the people are in great spirits.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Faithful is the touch of a friend as long as the response is satisfactory.

The lies that are told about you are not so very harmful unless they are true.

The only way to avoid having to take things as they come is to carefully see that they are satisfactorily prearranged.

The reason why the consciences of some people do not trouble them is because they have none.

The ill nature of a person is simply unbearable when it comes in direct contact with your own.

Notice to Democrats.

JACKSON, KY., July 8, 1908.
To the Democrats of the 23rd Judicial District:

A number of friends have requested me to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge. Others, knowing that I would not resort to the usual methods—the use of money and whisky—have discouraged me, saying that it was useless to seek an office without the use of such methods; but inasmuch as I believe that a majority of the people are honest and in favor of what is right, I have made up my mind that if the Democrats of the district will give me the nomination I will accept it, and if elected will serve the people to the best of my ability. However, if they think some other man more available, I should be pleased to see him nominated.

Yours for success,
SAMUEL H. PATRICK.
